Tribute
TO A SPORTSMAN AND FRIEND

WHETHER IT'S ON THE GRIDIRON, THE HARDWOOD, OR IN THIS GREAT GAME OF LIFE, HE TAKES THE INTEREST OF ONE VITALLY CONCERNED. HIS IS THE REPUTATION FOR PRODUCING WINNING TEAMS. IT IS HE WHO BY HIS WORDS "PLAY A CLEAN GAME" HAS GIVEN US TEAMS RENOWNED FOR THEIR GALLANTRY IN VICTORY AND THEIR HIGH SPIRITS IN DEFEAT. HIS JUDGMENT IN EXECUTION IS BEYOND QUESTION. WHEN THE NOISE OF CONTEST IS OVER AND HE HAS RETIRED AMONG HIS HOSTS OF FRIENDS, HE SHOWS HIMSELF TO BE A GENTLEMAN OF MULTITUDINOUS GOOD GRACES. HIS IS THE RARE QUALITY OF ETERNAL CHEERFULNESS. IT IS WITH YOUTHFUL EAGERNESS THAT HE LENDS A HELPING HAND TO ANY SCHEME WE MAY UNDERTAKE. IT IS WITH GRACIOUSNESS OF TONE THAT ABHORS FLIPPANCY THAT HE BIDS US FAREWELL, AND, IN REPLY, WE SAY—

HAIL AND FAREWELL; MAY SUCCESS ALWAYS ATTEND YOU,

IN MEMORIAM

"What we learn with pleasure we never forget."

To the Memory of MISS LYDIA BERRY

who passed away January 19, 1937, the Class of 1937 dedicates this page.

For sixteen years Miss Berry taught history to the students of Highlands, and they learned with pleasure because Miss Berry taught them. We may forget historical facts, but we shall never forget Miss Berry's friendliness, her good humor, and her everpresent smile.

It is fitting to erect memorials to those whom we love, but Miss Berry has built in the heart of each student a memorial that will last forever.

The students of Highlands have experienced a great loss, yet we have a feeling of gratitude that we were permitted to know her, and to feel that each of us was her "little friend."

"I cannot say, and I will not say that she is dead;
She is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered into that brighter land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since she lingers there."

VIEWS OF THE SCHOOL

Here in the kingdom of books, Miss McChesney reigns undisputed, her scepter a typewriter and her court a group of chattering, squirming youngsters.

"Libraries are as the shrines where all the relics of the ancient saints, full of true virtue, and that without delusion or imposture, are preserved and reposed."

The new cafeteria presents its homelike service within surroundings of comfortable roominess. Within its walls culinary aromas are blended with carefree conversation and laughter.

The new administrative office is simplicity itself. Here the serious and the humorous are balanced alike and due merits apportioned.

With the buzz of the saw and the whine of the drill, the new shop has a rhythm of its own, a rhythm inspiring watchful eyes and skillful hands to expert workmanship.

The Ruth Moyer School, newest of the elementary schools, sits in white majesty as a monument to her whose memory it perpetuates.

The Robert D. Johnson School occupies a commanding position in the heart of north Fort Thomas, around which has sprung up an extensive residential section.

The Samuel Woodfill School is the hub of the southern portion of Fort Thomas, including in its radius the southern business section and the military reservation.

OUR FIRST ALMA MATERS

AUTUMN AT HIGHLANDS

Returning to Old Highlands in September, we found it impasse as of old, yet radiant in the promise of a new addition, upon which construction was already well under way.

Despite the advent of customary autumn inclemency, work was feverishly carried on, a building began slowly to appear from shapeless stone and steel.

With the entrance of the new year came completion of the structure which so soon was to house our increasing numbers and become an outlet for our physical and mental energy.

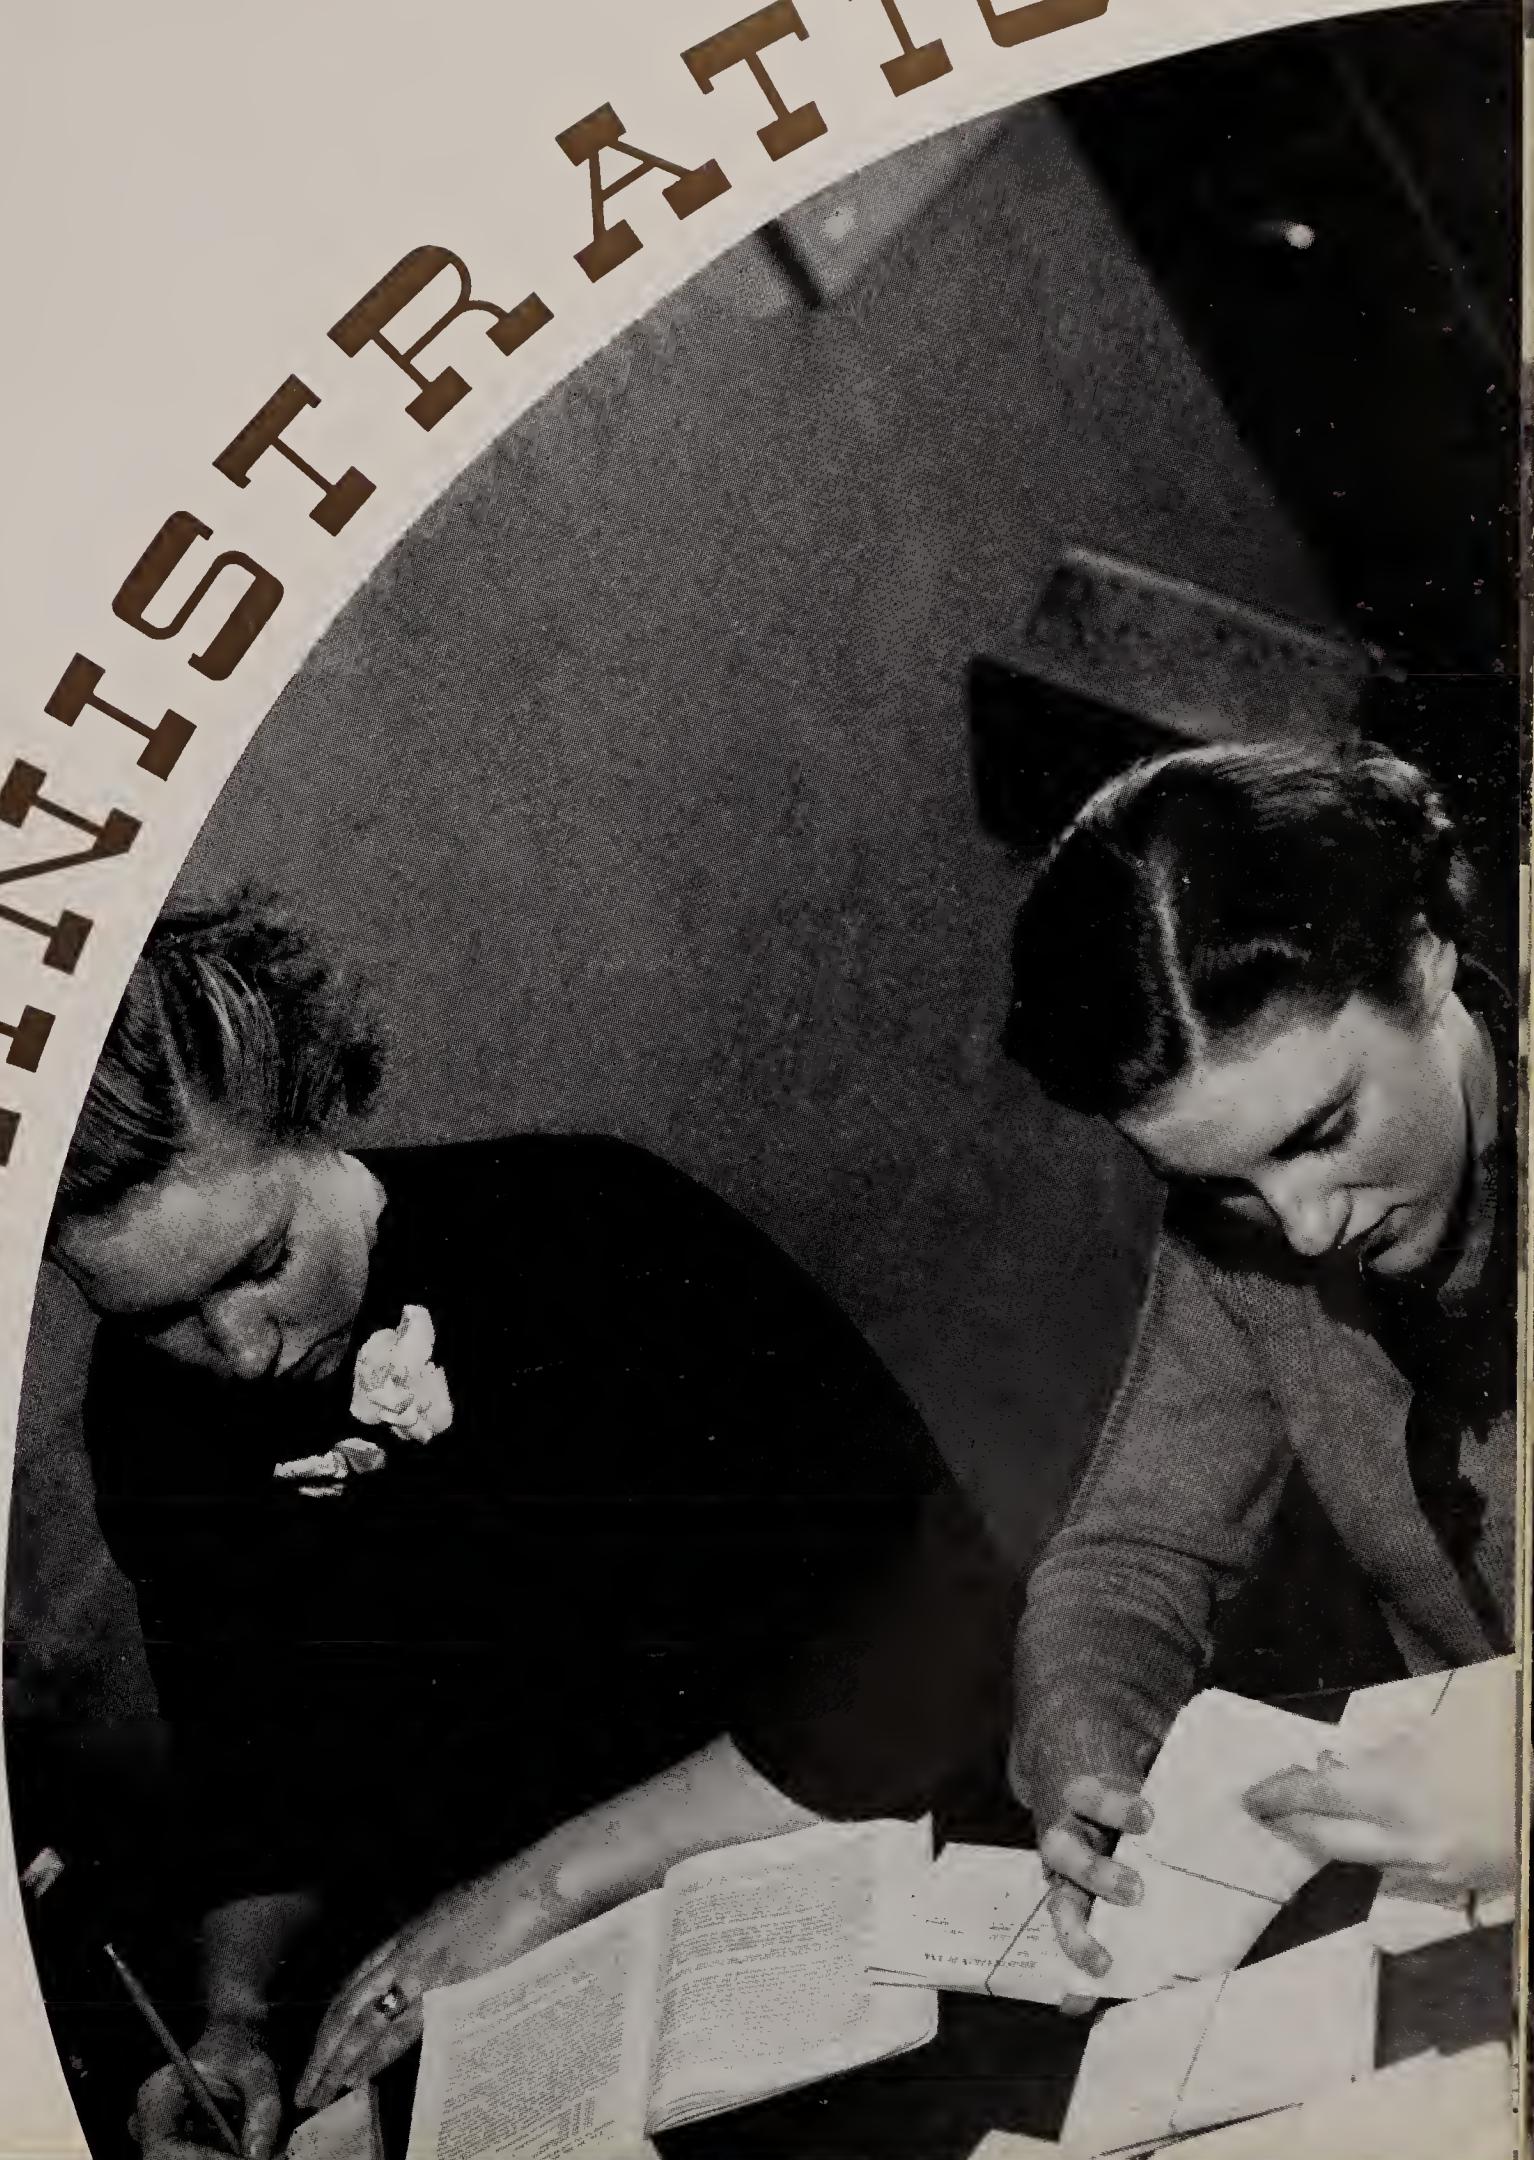

Within these walls and through these halls may we walk arm in arm with Knowledge, chat gaily in Companionship, learn to appreciate and preserve Beauty, foster Confidence, encourage the Arts, and strengthen and build Tradition. • "We require from buildings, as from men, two kinds of goodness: first, the doing their practical duty well; then that they be graceful and pleasing in doing it; which last is itself another form of duty."

MISS CHAPMAN

When the last report is made about the ones who deserve the most credit for excellent schools in Fort Thomas, at the top of the list will be the names of the Board of Education. These men gladly give many hours to devising plans for the continual improvement of the schools, always with the guiding principle of giving the children of Fort Thomas the best educational advantages that the city can afford.

One of the members of the Board who had much to do with this latest improvement has retired from the Board after many years of service. However, Mr. Claude W. Johnson will be remembered not only for his devotion to the schools of Fort Thomas but as well for the gracious manner in which, as President of the Board of Education, he presented the high school diplomas, year after year.

Highlands High has always had reason to be grateful to the Board of Education, and is always proud to pay tribute to its members.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

CONTROLLERS OF OUR DESTINIES

• • • THE THREE FATES

Mr. Austin is the gentleman who, from his desk, keeps the wheels turning in our little school community. He is widely known for his untiring work, together with his ability as an accomplished speaker. In the few years he has been with us he has gained hosts of friends. Our ambition has been to reach that stage where we might call him "Joe," but so far we have not dared. What about it, Joe?

In contrast to the old phrase "Let George do it," our cry is "Let Miss Moery do it." In addition to her official duty as Dean of Girls, Miss Marguerite Moery also conducts classes in Economics and Sociology, is faculty adviser for the annual senior class sponsor, and dramatic teacher. We will be leaving you soon, Miss Moery, and you'll have another class to bother you.

In his performance as assistant principal, Mr. Russell Bridges seems to have a finger in everything that happens at Highlands. He is responsible for our cosmopolitan athletic schedules. Truly he is the "Old Schoolmaster" in that he can mete out medals of merit and the birch switch with equal ease.

SOME OF THE PROFS

C.B. Sutor

Mr. Sutor is the stately gentleman we all know as "Pop." Quite friendly, both in and out of class, he is always ready to help us solve problems both of Life and Science.

Mr. Boucher

Although new to us this year, Mr. Boucher, with his cool, methodical way of teaching and the easy manner in which he assails us with his puns, has commanded both our respect and admiration.

Mr. Rader

Mr. Rader, with his little lectures, has instilled in all of us the ambition to be President. Although we may let you down in class, we won't disappoint you in life. Keep your eyes on us, Honey!

Miss Cooper

Miss Cooper is the younger students' first impression of "Highlands." To date all seem to be quite enthusiastic, so we trust it is a very good impression, indeed.

Miss Hess

Miss Hess is also new to us this year. She is so accomplished a teacher that in her Biology classes we feel that we no longer have any personal secrets.

Miss Gabbert

When in Junior High, we learned that the color of Miss Gabbert's hair does not always display her temperament. One of our closest friends, she is one in whom we can confide.

Miss Jordan

When we have finished Latin, we may not have learned a thing about the language, but we have learned to like Miss Jordan and her pleasing ways.

MORE OF THE PROFS

A deep regret will be felt by every student when "Colonel" leaves. His friendly manner accounts for his popularity, while his fine work in athletics has made "Highlands" very proud of him.

Professor C. R. Rouse is noted for his cool, calculated manner of doing things. If we were only with you another year, Mr. Rouse, we might learn to read your writing and learn what "C. R." stands for.

It was Miss Roudebush who first taught us how many men can do how much work in how many days. We are truly grateful to her, for now we are able to put what we have learned into effect.

Hamlet said, "Frailty, thy name is Woman." We don't put much faith in this, however, for Miss White rules her English classes with a firm hand and woe to him who splits his infinitive.

We cannot say that Miss Welker is not the type. Although she may not approve our one finger, hunt-peck system, still she takes pride in the fact that we can spell such words as "believe" with our eyes closed. See?

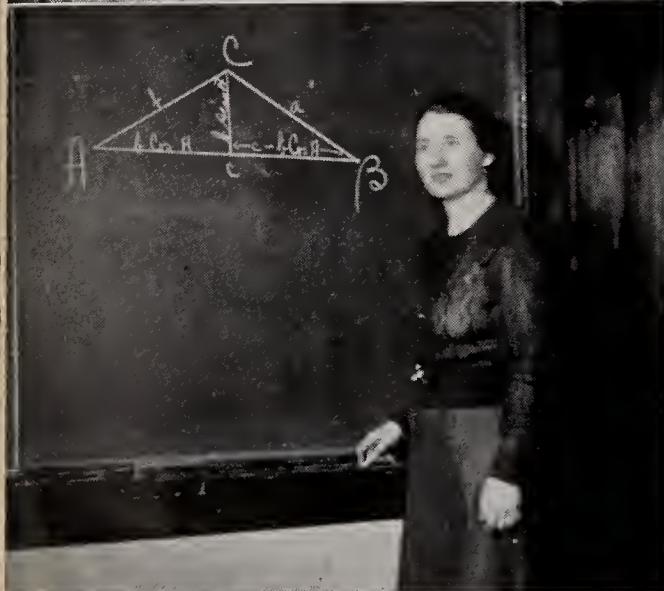

Miss McChesney has at her fingertips a vast store of knowledge, of which she has soaked up more than average. Her greatest success, however, we believe is, not in managing the library, but in the role of Juliet.

Mr. Anderson is also comparatively new to us. Through his great interest in public speaking, he has converted the most mumbling of us to glib speakers.

Madame Taylor represents to us everything that is kind and fun-loving. When we leave her we will hate to say "Goodbye" so we'll merely say "A de-main."

Emory V. Jones

MORE OF THE PROFS

The music goes round and round in Mr. Jones' mind. He is the gentleman who deserves so much credit in bringing music trophies to our halls. However, we know his secret pride to be the development of a youthful soprano at home.

Miss Worley has long been a favorite with the Junior High as a friend as well as an instructor in history. Her famous blackboard quotations are, we believe, on a par with those of philosophers long-extinct.

Miss Greene must have the secret for avoiding gray hair after the way in which some of her Home Economics girls mistook washing soda for baking soda. The other teachers envy her little kitchen and the neat manner in which it is kept.

Theorem A: "If a mathematics teacher of unusual intelligence, such as Miss Baker, be placed in a class of students proportionately stupid, a great deal of fun and worry are bound to ensue."

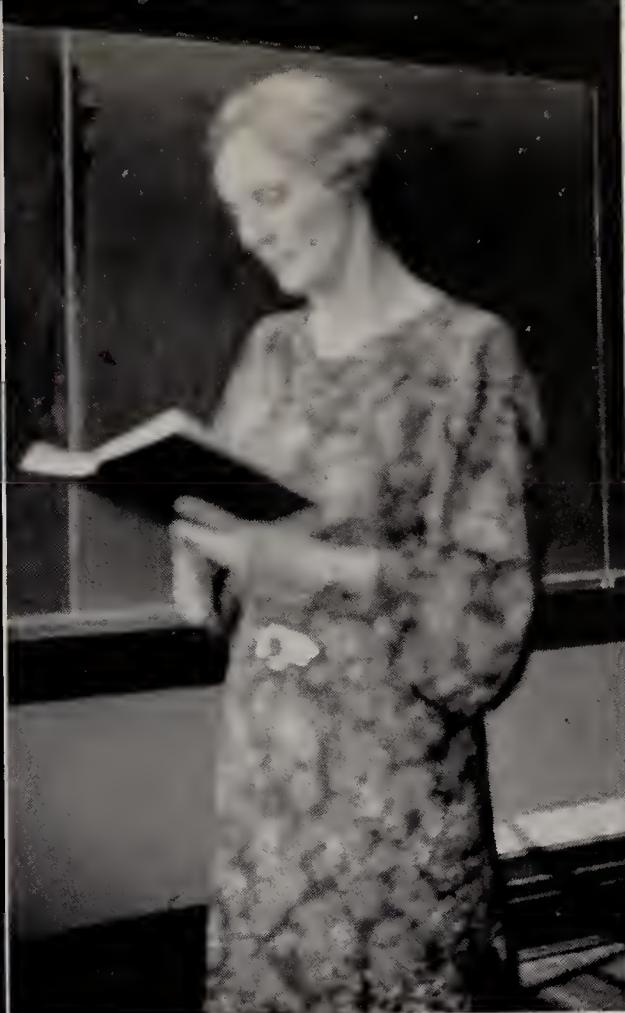

Miss Roach, physical director of the girls, teaches them sportsmanship in and out of the game. Her girls' basketball team and her fine May Day programs both deserve high praise.

Mothers of schoolchildren have forsaken the "boogieman" in favor of Stew Baker, erstwhile truant officer. In this duty and in his capacity as teacher of woodworking, he is in close contact with the students and able to give them the advantages of his anecdotes.

BALANCE OF THE PROFS

Miss Moore seems to be the perennial flower in our faculty garden. We started with her in the lower grades, moved rapidly along under her supervision in the intermediate grades, and now we welcome her guiding hand again here at Highlands.

If an apple a day keeps the doctor away, we would all immediately eat so many apples that we would have stomach aches; for we prefer Miss Brown's methods and her cheery, companionable ways.

This picture is an illusion; Mr. Miller does not always teach to deserted classrooms. No, indeed, we derive a great deal of pleasure from attending his classes, even though he may stand firmly before us and say "They shall not pass."

Miss Seiter has capably filled the vacancy left by our beloved Miss Berry. We have not been acquainted with her long enough to discover faults or deficiencies, but long enough to recognize her goodness.

It was a great shock to us to enter Mr. Schmitz's class only to find that what we had been drinking under the guise of water was really  $H_2O$ . Indeed, all his classes are as astounding and exciting as a circus sideshow, and for this reason we enter with light steps.

CLASSROOM SCENES

Classroom pictures depict manner in which faculty and students work together; for the air-minded, expert guidance and advice are afforded the making of model planes; power of creation and acute visualization are cultivated for the keen mind in vocational subjects; nutmeg and pepper add zest to a home economics course that is very much alive; a quick eye and nimble finger work together in typing; in business service organizations the conscientious are taught the rudiments of office work.

CLASS ROOM ACTIVITIES

IN counterclockwise order, the events of a day at Highlands pass in review: the noisy library chatter that customarily accompanies the studios; thirty mouths open as one at the lift of a hand, as Mr. Jones conducts one of his numerous music classes; dry cells in the afternoon, sparking at night, is the schedule for the physics students; with a clever tongue and a helping hand, "Honey" surveys a drawing and passes approval; May Day climaxes a beautiful Spring.

ACTIVITIES

THE ANNUAL STAFF

To the readers of the annual, each book is a source of pleasure in that they recognize their friends and associates in school life.

To the seniors, the annual will always be a representation of their school activities, of their few sorrows, and of their many joys. It is the last trace of their life before each one goes his own way into the world.

To the members of the annual staff, this book is a symbol of their achievement. Their industry, diligence, and perseverance have been combined with the cooperation of everyone to try to make this annual stand out in the minds of every reader.

To all, both young and old alike, it gives an opportunity to study and realize high school life as it is today.

And so to Miss Moery, without whose guiding sponsorship this annual of 1937

could never have been produced, the annual staff extends its whole-hearted thanks and appreciation.

The Highlander is, indeed, a Highlands tradition, and we sincerely hope that the product may add to rather than detract from this tradition. We feel that the time we have given to its production has not been given in vain; when we had washed the last ink off our hands and banked our last penny, we emerged through the fog with a smile and this—our picture of Highlands.

STUDENT COUNCIL

In spite of the fact that the Student Council is one of the oldest organizations of the school, it remains among the most active. As the school year progresses many projects are undertaken by the students. Ever alert, the Student Council is, more often than not, the power behind the move. Aiding in the annual white Christmas; granting letters to athletes recommended by the coaches; and serving as a student reception committee to visiting schools are only a few of the duties performed by its members. Nominated by the faculty and elected by the student body, the council represents the entire school in its activities.

GIRL RESERVES

Girl reserves, inspired by the spirit of youth, stress health and wholesome recreation, religious understandings expressed in daily living, a better adjustment of self to home and school, and a variety of opportunities for development along creative lines.

GIRL RESERVES

Biltz, Martha Rader, Nita Creager, and Betty Moats, has completed another successful year. This year the club became so large that it was divided into senior and junior groups, having separate officers.

The Girl Reserves began the year by sending three delegates, Carol Hickox, Susan Hart, and Betty Ann Alf, to a conference at Brookville, Kentucky. The first of our social activities was a "hobo hike." The most memorable social event was the George Washington Dance.

Clothes were collected for the needy flood sufferers and taken to the Newport Red Cross. Many Girl Reserves did flood relief work in the churches and at the high school.

This spring Betty Lou Halloran, Doris Winstel, and Phoebe Scherer spent an enjoyable week-end at Springfield, attending the Southern Ohio Conference.

DEBATE

Highlands debate season this year was the most successful in its history. The debate team established a wonderful record reaching the semi-finals in the state tournament held at Lexington.

The debate squad consisted of Margie Allen, Paul Brandes, Harriett Grizzell, Royce Patton, George Pow, Jean Megerle, and Stuart Ducker. The question of debate was, Resolved: That All Electric Utilities Should Be Governmentally Owned and Operated.

The debaters enjoyed a week-end trip to Richmond where they met and defeated Model High School. They were entertained by Richmond at a banquet and spent the night in the dormitories of Eastern College. Later, Richmond returned the visit and again was defeated. The teams from both schools were entertained with a dinner at the Spanish Tavern in Covington.

This year two other debate teams visited our school—Winchester and Middlesboro. Our team lost their first decision debate to Middlesboro.

To qualify for the state competition our debaters eliminated six teams in the district conference, debating Independence, Beechwood, Hebron, Alexandria, Butler, and Erlanger. At the state tournament the team met Corbin in two debates; and Somerset, Frenchburg, Hopkinsville, Heath, Middlesboro, Hindman, St. Xavier of Louisville and Winchester once each. Highlands was defeated in the semi-finals of the state tournament by Winchester, thus ending a brilliant record showing only four defeats in thirty-three inter-school debates.

This year the mixed chorus has been just as active and as good as before. The members have sung several times at our school, once at Erlanger, and twice over WCKY on the program given by Northern Kentucky School Children. This is the first time that our chorus has sung over the radio in this district. Last year it broadcasted over WSM in Nashville. Both broadcasts were of great importance in its program.

The district contest was held at Highlands on April 22. Fifteen school contested. The winners here will go to Lexington to compete with all the other district winners. The Highlands girls' chorus, boys' chorus, and mixed chorus received a rating of excellent. That means that we will go to Lexington to compete in the State Contest April 30.

This year the State Contest will be opened by the All State Chorus which will participate in programs given at the University of Kentucky, April 28-30. This chorus will be composed of singers from many of the high schools of Kentucky and will be directed by Mr. Hollis Dann, internationally known composer and musician from New York. Twelve singers have been chosen by Mr. Jones to represent our school in this chorus. This is the first time that such a chorus has been organized and we are very much pleased to have a part in it.

One of the most eventful trips of every year is that taken by the chorus to Lexington to compete in the state contest. There are many groups competing and in the past, ours has always been rated among the best. Last year the girls received a rating of excellent while the boys received one of superior. The girls have not forgotten, and they have vowed to even the score. However, they both have made a splendid record and deserve much credit for the work that they have done.

Both the boys and girls work very hard and enjoy very much being under the supervision of Mr. Jones to whom they owe their success.

THE HIGHLAND BAND

Perhaps Art uses mirrors to achieve some of his grotesque stances, but, whether he does or not, we feel assured that there are none who can approach his skill in stick-twirling.

From a group of new recruits Mr. McKenna has whipped together an organization quite capable of carrying on the honor and tradition that are always associated with the Highland Band.

Highlands High, long being noted for its instrumental organization, has put a heavy responsibility upon the Band to uphold its traditional honors. For the past six years it has never once tasted defeat. After winning the Class "B" championship in the state of Kentucky three successive years, they braved competition and the next year entered Class "A."

In this class the National Educational Bureau for the Advancement of Music offered a trophy to the winner each year and permanent ownership to the band winning for three years. Highlands won three consecutive years, in 1934-1935-1936, and the beautiful trophy was ours.

MOVIE APPRECIATION CLUB

With the idea in mind that more discrimination should be displayed in the choice of motion pictures, a group of "screen fans," under the enthusiastic and capable supervision of Miss White and Mrs. Taylor, decided to form the Movie Appreciation Club.

An effort has been made to establish standards to aid students in judging excellence in acting, photography, direction, and other outstanding features of motion pictures.

From all indications the club has become an established organization here at Highlands. It has been in existence for nearly a year now, and is recognized as a success.

COACHES

Highlands may truly be proud of its coaching staff, composed of Head Coach Walter "Rip" Van Winkle and Assistant Coach Al "Honey" Rader. These men, having had much experience in coaching, were able to obtain the maximum results from the efforts of the players.

To many Coach Van Winkle is known as "The Colonel." As a coach he should have been known as "The General," for it is he who was commander-in-chief of the gridiron. To him goes the credit for a successful football season.

COACH RADER

COACH VAN WINKLE

MANAGER HUNTER

MANAGER MERRICK

The season's record shows that his strategy of campaigns was well-planned. By setting an example of the true sportsman, Mr. Van Winkle stressed the necessity of being sportsmanlike not only in sports but also in every day life. Through his association with the players, he is looked upon, not as a superior, but as a comrade.

"Think more and talk less." This is the motto of Mr. Rader, assistant football coach and head track coach. As Coach Rader thinks much and talks little, the wise listen when he makes a suggestion.

Much of the "fighting" spirit of the football team was the result of his efforts. To all who know him he is affectionately known as "Honey."

It was pleasing to the ears of Coach Van Winkle, upon his return to Highlands in the fall of '36, to hear that, through the influence of the seven lettermen from last year's squad, many football candidates had been training for the coming season. This willingness to work and cooperate was shown throughout the season, and in some manner made up for inexperience and lack of weight.

The season's record of six games won, two lost, and one tied, was second best in Northern Kentucky. The type of play and spirit of the team was a compliment to Coach Van Winkle. The shift that had proved successful in former years was again used to advantage. The formations used this season were modified punt, box, and variations of both.

The season was opened with a 32 to 0 victory over Vanceburg. In this game the Bluebirds gave notice to rivals that they were going to be a strong team.

Though outweighed by a big Terrace Park team, the "Birds" emerged with a 6 to 0 victory. The Bluebirds were stopped several times when in scoring position.

To the surprise of the "dopesters" who rated Erlanger an equal to Highlands, the boys came through with a smashing 33 to 0 triumph. As a result of this victory, Highlands was classed as the dark horse in the "Little Six Conference" race.

Mud, more mud, and still more mud—. This describes the conditions under which the next three games, probably the most important, were played. The first loss of the season and the only conference defeat, came at the hands of the Champion Bellevue Tigers to the tune of 19 to 0. Had the game been played on a dry field, the outcome might have been different, for our shifty backs were unable to obtain footing.

The Ludlow game proved to be very thrilling to the spectator. After many scoring threats the final gun sounded with the score 0 to 0. As Ludlow had been "doped" to win the conference title and beat Highlands by three touchdowns, this tie was quite an upset.

The Western Hills game was the most exciting game of the season. After knotting the score at 6 to 6 against the heavy Maroons, an intercepted pass in the closing minutes of play led to the second and final defeat of the season.

Once again on dry land the Bluebirds walloped Crescent Springs 25 to 6. The reserves played a large part of the game.

the first half. Coming back strong in the second half the team won 19 to 0.

In the final game of the season, against Dayton, with 10 seniors in action with the Bluebirds for the last time, the team won 19 to 0. At the banquet sponsored by the Football Club the following seniors were awarded letters: Kravitz, Pothast, Koch, Grimm, King, Myers, Riley, Johnston, Parish, and Kruer. The underclassmen who received letters were: Disney, Casner, Piccola, Ross, DeJarnette, Pogue, Sanders, and Carothers. Two managers, Hunter and Merrick, also earned letters.

To next year's co-captains, Ross and Disney, and those who return, the best of luck.

ON THE HARDWOOD

The basketball season of '36 was greeted with much enthusiasm. From the first day of practice, the lettermen from last year, by their willingness to work and team spirit, showed promise of rounding into a winning team. By hard work and individual cleverness, the veterans mastered the short pass, criss-cross system which had been installed the year before by Coach Van Winkle.

With only a week's practice, the Birds journeyed to Norwood to meet the Indians of that school, one of the strongest teams in Greater Cincinnati. Starting strong, the Birds lived up to practice showings by holding the Indians to a 17-11 score at the half. Due to a lack of experienced reserves and the short training period, they were forced to take the short end of a 40-17 score.

On the following night, the Birds came back strong to defeat Covington at Highlands. Profiting by their mistakes of the previous night, after a slow first half, the Highlands quintet went on to win 23-14. With a victory over Covington under their belts, the Highlanders gained the confidence needed to carry them through a strenuous Conference schedule. Picked by experts to lose to a good Erlanger team, handling the ball in fine style, the Birds won easily, 35-16. Through this victory they served notice to all Conference foes that they were to be reckoned with.

The following week against Crescent Springs, in the second Conference game, after a slow start the Highlands quintet came through to win 26-16. Through this second victory, the Birds moved into first place in the Conference race.

As Ludlow was the defending champion and Highlands a strong challenger, this game was looked on with much interest. The Birds, displaying their prowess, ended Ludlow's hopes for a second consecutive championship by downing them 30-24.

By this victory Highlands gained a stronger hold on first place.

For the first time in many years, the team was treated to a trip through Central Kentucky. The first stop was Paris, the home of the Central Kentucky Conference champions. Unable to hit consistently, the Birds lost the second game in six starts by the score of 24-11. The second stop of the trip was Winchester, the heart of the Bluegrass and the home of Coach Van Winkle. Coming into their stride again, through brilliant passing, the Birds won 23-21.

Starting the '37 portion of the season in fine fashion, the Birds, showing the results of the holiday games and training, played the best game of the season against the colorful Ironton, Ohio team, winning a fast game by the score of 27-24.

Stepping out of the Conference again to visit the strong Newport Wildcats on their own floor, the Birds again suffered a let-down and lost 37-19.

With the intention of remaining in first place in the Conference, the Highlanders journeyed to Bellevue, their greatest rival, to achieve a most satisfying victory to the tune of 25-16. This proved to be the last game of Norman Kravitz, star guard, because of the eight-semester ruling in Kentucky high schools.

Then the deluge descended—in other words, the flood causing disrupted school work, a postponement of all schedules, and a break in the routine of all athletics. After a very long layoff, the next attempt at a scheduled game was at Terrace Park, where the Highlanders lost by the close score of 20-18.

Due to a special Conference ruling, the next games with Erlanger and Bellevue did not count in the Conference standing, thus the Birds' position was not affected by losses to them.

Then came the all-important championship battle against Dayton. Since each team was credited with four Conference wins to no losses, this was to be the deciding contest. After a very close game, Dayton won 30-12, winning also undisputed championship of the Little Six Conference. Highlands finished in second place.

In the district tournament, the Birds lost to the district and regional champs, Newport, after a hard-fought game, 30-18. At the Recognition Banquet in May, the members of the graduating class to receive letters were Co-Captain Kravitz, Parish, and Pothast. The lettermen around whom next year's team will be built are Captain Pfister, Disney, Hinerman, Pogue, and Ross. To them we say "Happy Baskets."

GIRLS' BASKETBALL RECORD

Basketball is a game which teaches us many things—sportsmanship, accuracy, timing, and teamwork. This year, for the first time since the organization of girls' basketball at Highlands, it has taught us how to be good losers. By a matter of only a few points, we were forced to acknowledge that we were conquered by a hard schedule. In the course of the basketball season we came up against such teams as Newport, Wyoming, Our Lady of the Angels, Terrace Park, and Dayton Oakwood.

It is with regret that we put away our basketball togs, for, while to some of us it merely means the postponement of our favorite sport for another year, to others of us, who leave with this year's class, it means that we have played our last game for Highlands.

Although we would not seem to be so fortunate as was the boys' squad in number of games won, still the fighting spirit which we carried onto the floor with us at the beginning of the year was still with us when the last whistle had blown.

The support given to us by friends throughout the season was converted into something quite tangible in the form of a Recognition Banquet and Dance which was held in May. At that time letters were awarded. The following members of the graduating class—Co-Captains Heller and Marty, Elsie Jean Flohr, Jane Petty, Georgianna Hetsch, Peggy Ann Garcia, Frances Franks, and Betty Cook—"sang their swan songs" at this ceremony. Virginia Phillips was the only undergraduate to receive a letter and will return to play with next year's team. To them, we graduates extend our hearty wishes for good luck and success.

TRACK AND FIELD

The increased interest in track shown at Highlands this spring is stimulating to those interested in the spring sport. Under the leadership of our co-captains, George Edgar and Leon Hogan, the student body has responded to the call of track and the large squad of twenty regulars are at work each day. If the early season form is an indication of what we may expect, many thrills are in store for Highlands this spring.

At the A. A. U. indoor meet our half-mile relay team won the event by fifty yards. Those participating were Billy Case, Warner Wilson, Bob Grimm, Charles Luker, George Edgar, and Leon Hogan. The sweeping victory over Dayton at the dual meet April 19 also showed that our boys are getting results from the faithful efforts at practice.

The schedule this year includes two trips: to Miami, May 8, and to Lexington, May 22. The Highland Relays is becoming the gala affair in Northern Kentucky spring sports. This year we are entertaining Du Pont Manual of Louisville, Holmes, and Newport, which show may prove to be the most attractive meet of the season.

Those showing up best so far this season are: Edgar, Hogan, Luker, and Grimm. There are many others who show much promise and many underclassmen are now on their way to win many honors soon. We hope Highlands track squad continues to increase and before long will be bringing home state honors as was our custom in years past.

Everyone's on their toes as the starter's gun cracks the start of the 440-yard run at the Quadrangular Meet, which was captured by Louisville Manual.

TRACK SNAPSHOT S

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports for the boys were hindered a great deal by the flood. Due to a lack of time, the annual senior high boys' basketball tournament was not completed. However, the junior high tournament was held according to schedule. The junior high boys showed their interest in athletics by the enthusiasm with which they participated in the tournament. The 8B boys came through with flying colors to victory. Many promising basketball players showed their talent, and undoubtedly will be the stars of future years.

With the arrival of Spring, a new athletic program was put into effect. The program provided for four sports: baseball, shuffleboard, tennis, and aerial dart. Through this program, everyone who was interested was able to participate in some form of athletic competition.

In the midst of such a complete and varied spring athletic program as we have here at Highlands, it is with pleasure that most of us look forward to those less strenuous moments when we may take part in the Intramural program. The first sports which appear on the program are basketball and volleyball. This year the Senior girls stepped out in front by winning both of these tournaments after competing with the other senior high teams. The less arduous of this program are dart and deck-tennis tournaments. Eagerly we await the good weather which brings with it the promise of baseball—the sport which is more and more becoming the national pastime for both boys and girls. This year we are to be coached in tennis and other events by Miss Roach who is our capable and efficient director. If it were not for her, it is certain that we would not have as complete and well-planned an Intramural program.

GIRLS' INTRAMURALS

The brute in the oh-so-nice silk pants is the rough, tough, awe-inspiring football hero, Dick Pothast, who, at the present time, is looking for a cup of tea.

When there's a snowfall there is no restraining the would-be snowballers who run rampant—there's 'snow use, that's all.

For her many years of attentive service, Miss Shehan receives, in addition to the gray hairs we have given her, an anniversary bouquet from the faculty.

The "Old Schoolmaster" again proves that an old dog cannot be taught new scripts. In view of the background of the scene, perhaps it is just as well television isn't here.

The shuffle-board enthusiasts stay in a corner by themselves and pay attention to no one.

The old familiar crossing at the extremity of the campus, where the Green Line and Highlands meet.

Four pairs of eyes focus on a small white sphere in a game of mixed doubles—or should it be mixed troubles.

The Island Queen made a bold but vain effort to cruise through central Newport during the flood season.

The perplexed gentleman, whose business is yo-yo spinning, has a part-time hobby of teaching science.

Some of the "fellows"—mean-looking, naturally, but truly quite harmless.

Looks like spring housecleaning in the office, or maybe it's just the arrival of some personal mail.

Candid shot of the Girl Reserve dance. Notice the pensive, angelic look on the Astaire in the foreground.

Little Miss Davies gives us a blue-eyed gaze as she awaits some eager Romeo to approach her balcony.

Some of the bricklayers pause long enough to show what the well-dressed workman is wearing and doing.

The waterworks seems to hold enchantment for this group whose curiosity would kill a dozen cats.

Typical shot of a bustling saleswoman; the sales personality lies either in the eyes or in the neckerchief.

No, he's not trucking—he's merely showing the gang the proper way to carry football equipment without soiling the elbows.

Oh Ma, Claude's loose again! The "Brain" demonstrates to his henchmen the proper way to attain the title Public Enemy No. 1.

Hold it, please. Watch the birdie! The clever man with the three-legged Kodak again forces us to wear neckties and sit still.

Looks as though our chemists have found the missing element, or is it merely dirt in the bottom of the test tube.

A quiet study period in the auditorium—two out of three are asleep. It's really quite unusual to see a group of boys about a Jck.

Vegetables came out very early this year, especially tomatoes on Cabbage Night.

Three's a crowd, but when one starts yawning everything looks rosy.

The Junior High girls gather to discuss political and economic problems (?).

Professor C. R. conducts one of his well-known tours and seems to have his small group interested.

Sweethearts? One is, but the other smiles as if to say "Oh Kay."

That darn waterworks trip again. We can't keep them out of the book; they just pop up everywhere. The fair sex shows why football is fast becoming as popular as baseball.

What are they doing? Your guess is as good as ours—probably loafing. Notice the happy, excited manner in which we enter school every morning.

Mrs. C. R. learns about parliamentary procedure so she can teach it to the Professor.

Looks as if we are going to have a hot time—or were, before the cable broke.

Momma never told me Santa Claus looked like this, but I'm willing to stay up Christmas Eve and wait now.

The Halloween Dance was the cat's meow.

Joe paces up and down, pensively trying to figure it all out.

They must be shooting blanks; look at Mr. Schmitz's expression.

Three queens, but if you speak to them a flush will appear.

Buddy complies with requests for autographs. Brother, can you spare a dame?

Intramurals. Better wake him, Garry; he looks asleep to us.

The sophomore rail walkers. No wonder the street cars come by so often this year.

The Frankfort trip was all wet. Pick out Governor Chandler here.

The Junior High party. A very good time was had by all.

G-men. State and national inspectors came to see why we take seven years to complete a four-year course.

Washington, D. C. Trip. The pale group in the background aren't members of our party.

Looked like the Old Ladies' Home on an overnight hike when we marched down on Frankfort.

Just one of the Jones boys introducing some of Kentucky's fairest to a radio studio.

In our country the birds have large feet, or could this phenomenon have been caused by Highlands snowbirds.

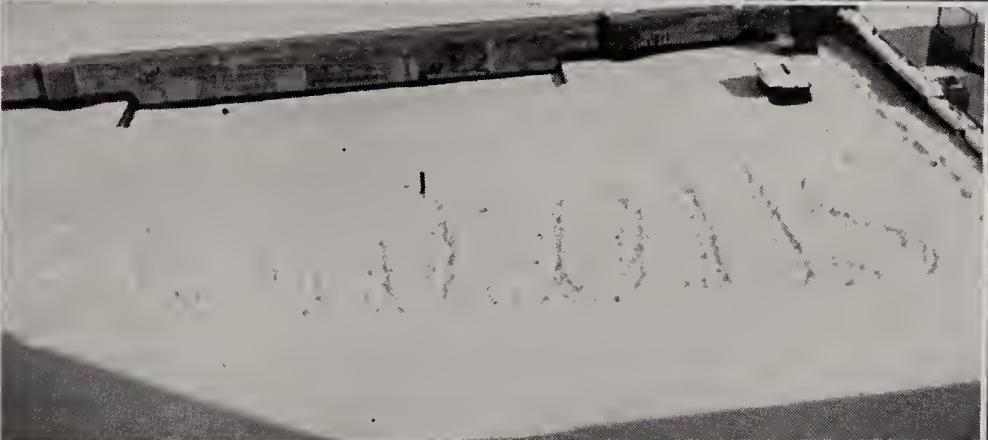

Real estate had an astounding boom during the flood when agents advertised running water in every room.

Snapshots of members of the faculty enjoying a brief siesta beneath the campus elm—how the tinsel got there is beyond us.

Returning from Frankfort the boys refreshed themselves at the Half-way House and were pleased with the delightful souvenirs.

Dick takes his famed high dive into the drinking fountain.

Book-worms, every one of them; smarter than all get-out!

By the sad expressions it must be the National Pallbearers' Union who are mounting our new stairway.

Try to identify yourself in this happy group leaving the Senior Class Play; if you weren't there you should be ashamed of yourself.

The generals of our culinary army, who can make everything that mother used to make, and even better.

Miss Lucille White sits down to the practice that is so essential to anyone accompanying Highlands vocalists and instrumentalists.

Garry demonstrates that boarding-house reach, as Rogers helpfully prepares to remove the ladder from beneath him. Some gang, that stage crew!

Emogene laughs, as though to say, "You ought to see him in his uniform."

The two inseparables. Always together and always with an arm around their waists.

Maybe P. W. A. means Powerful Working Appetite. Those bricks are no good—they've all got holes in them.

. . . but remember this: the men and women who have etched their mark high on the granite cliff of success have used liberal amounts of milk and its products.

THE HUB OF ACTIVITY

Wherever you go—whatever you do, you see the telephone in the center of things, day and night. Without it, business and social activity would slow down to a walk. Imagine a community without the fire and police protection the telephone provides. What suffering and inconvenience would follow a sudden end to this quick contact with doctors, druggists, merchants and service institutions!
